

(Forum userid: golfguru)

Paul is a rarity in the professional golf world. He holds both a TGM AI qualification (known as the hardest exam in the golf teacher's realm) and is also a Master Craftsman certified by the Golf Clubmakers Association in the USA. Clients of Paul's get a first class education session whether it be fixing a swing fault or building clubs from scratch to suit a player's ability.

Paul has been a sportsman over the years competing at international level field hockey, Porsche Cup motor-sport in Europe and Group E in Australia. He took to golf at a later age than most but now travels the world teaching.

In his previous career he ran one of the world's largest Foreign Exchange Derivatives teams and learned well that whatever business you do you must listen to what a client required to be able to get the best result.

"When people come to me all I ask is they bring 3 things. First what clubs they have. Second some sensible shoes. Third a sense of humor. With those things in the bag, results will follow."

Email Paul at: golfguru@iseekgolf.com

Check out Paul's website: www.iseekgolf.com